

Context note: Full of venom upon discovering his ex wife is thriving without him

BROOKS

Yep. I'm here. Off of 1290 despite your best efforts. I thought you were dead. I thought you abandoned me and then crashed into the planetary rings. Drifting in space. This is worse. It's been 15 years! You threw away our entire lives.

Context note: focused scientific fascination as he unravels a mystery.

Pre-sheravian - shure-ave-ian

BROOKS

Hmmm a warm, dry, rocky planet. With an atmosphere breathable for Ok'bar and humans... Scilia V. It's a habitable planet. Mostly. There's a lot of archaeological dig sites out there. It was one of the places I considered going for my PhD program, actually. My second proposal was going to examine the bone adaptation of fauna in the pre-sheravian era, but my advisor thought I needed to choose something with a more sociological impact.