

Context note: This is a radio diary at the end of every episode. Tio is endlessly enthusiastic and trying to push aside his fear.

Ok'bar is pronounced "Oak-bar"

TIO

I have made contact with humans! They don't know where the center of Ok'bar civilization is, but that's okay. Ok'bar has been around for waaaay longer than humans, so they still have a lot to learn. And I have a lot to learn about them! Did you know that humans build reaaaaaally tall buildings? It makes sense since they're so big, but everything goes so high! I haven't been up in one of those yet, but I'm nervous. But I think my new friends will take care of me. They're hiding me, and they think I'm a great astronaut. Phew. The humans gave me some bedding and they're letting me sleep in the main room in their spaceship! It's like a sleepover, except by myself. Well, and the weird animal they keep on their ship. Beans is so strange. He's sleeping on top of me right now, except that he's slowly melting and vibrating. Purring. They call it purring. I'm going to have to get used to him, and a lot of other things here with the humans. I'm just so happy to have company again after being alone for so long. I know I was asleep, but I still know I was alone for years and years, you know? It's nice to have friends again.
